Luggage: On tour

The weight limit for checked-in baggage on our charter flight between Churchill and Winnipeg is 50 lbs. per person. We suggest one water-resistant or waterproof bag and one carry-on or daypack per person. We highly recommend packing light - take only the essentials you will need during your adventure.

Equipment

Photography equipment and chargers Binoculars - these are a must on the tundra. For optimal viewing, we suggest those with specs between 10x42 and 8x42. You may even try 8x35, but only if they contain high quality glass. Practice using your binoculars before your adventure to make sure they are not too powerful or you do not have trouble holding them steady. Couples should consider bringing two pairs of binoculars, so both people can view wildlife simultaneously. Water-resistant daypack for use during outings Hand/foot warmers (highly recommended) Sunglasses (with UV protection) Prescription glasses/contact lenses Yaktrax (optional.) Yaktrax can be extremely helpful to prevent slipping in snowy or icy conditions. Other popular brands of traction devices include DueNorth, Kahtoola, and Stabilicer. (There are a limited number of Yaktrax available for guest use in Churchill.) Small flashlight or headlamp (with spare batteries) - recommended for the evening tundra excursion Toiletries Dry skin lotion Sunscreen & lip balm (SPF 15+) Bring protection for your hands, face, and lips, as the reflection off of the snow and ice can be intense. Small medical kit Battery-operated alarm clock or wristwatch Zip-lock bags are great for protecting camera equipment.

Tipping

Local crew

Our Expedition leaders guide nature trips because they love to view wildlife and to educate people about the splendors of the world in which we live. They are not motivated by gratuities. Rather, they take great pride in making your trip an experience of a lifetime. If you feel your Expedition crew have done an outstanding job and wish to offer a gratuity, we recommend approx. $15-$25 USD per person, per day. A portion of this gratuity is shared with local Natural Habitat Adventures staff for their assistance on your adventure. Please note, Canadian dollars is also acceptable.
