Itinerary

Itineraries on some departure dates may differ, please select the itinerary that you wish to explore.

DAY 1 - Join trip in Kuala Lumpur

We join our trip in Malaysia's capital, Kuala Lumpur. East and West rub shoulders in this eclectic and energetic city. KL (as it is known locally) has a hugely varied population, comprising mainly of Malays, Sikhs, Chinese, Indians, Tamils (many in local dress), and the odd splash of saffron from a robed Buddhist monk, adding colour to the vibrant street scenes. After checking into our hotel, the rest of the day is free at leisure.

Swiss Inn Kuala Lumpur (or similar)

Grade: Comfortable Hotel

SINGLE ROOM AVAILABLE

MEALS PROVIDED: NONE

DAY 2 - Discover Kuala Lumpur's varied sights on a walking tour of the city

This morning we embark on a walking tour to uncover some of the cultural diversity of this lively and modern city. The tour starts at the colourfully decorated Guan Yin Temple, an ornate Buddhist temple dedicated to Guan Yin, the Goddess of Compassion. We then venture into Chinatown and onto Petaling

Street, a pedestrianised lane lined with traditional Chinese lanterns and where anything from sunglasses to Bonsai trees can be bought. We move next onto the Hindu temple of Sri Maha Mariamman, a towering temple that is South Indian in style, and is said to be the oldest Hindu temple in all of Malaysia. On our way out of Chinatown we stop via the Central Market before crossing the Gombak River and onto the city's birthplace. This area offers a stark contrast from Chinatown and is full of historic buildings such as the Cathedral of Saint Mary and the Tudor-styled Royal Selangor club, from Malaysia's colonial days.

The rest of the day is free at leisure. If you would prefer to explore, you may wish to visit 'KLCC', the area in which the magnificent Petronas Towers lie. For wonderful views of the Towers along with a choice of Asian-inspired cocktails, head for the 'Sky Bar', residing on the 33rd floor of the Traders Hotel, directly opposite the towers.

DAY 3 - Morning visit to Batu Caves, afternoon drive to Malacca. Evening river cruise

This morning we head out of the city and on to the iconic Batu Caves. Some 272 steps lead up to the sacred Hindu temple that lies inside the cave, and wonderful views of the city and beyond can be had from the entrance. The temple is a shrine to a Hindu deity, Lord Murugah and the complex consists of three caves full of colourful Hindu murals and artwork. After some time spent exploring, and perhaps witnessing a puja if we are lucky (a Hindu ceremony of worship where often an offering to the gods or deity will be made), we will continue south and drive onto the colonial city of Malacca.

This afternoon we will then visit Villa Sentosa, a traditional house offering an interesting insight into the daily lives of a typical middle-class Malaysian family at the turn of the 20th century. This house-come-museum has been kept almost entirely as it was 100 years ago, and is located within the sleepy settlement of Kampong Morten, a village community hidden within the confines of the city.

This evening we include a river cruise, offering an interesting vantage point to watch the sun set over the colonial cityscape.

DAY 4 - Walking tour of the Old Town and visit to Villa Sentosa

Malacca is one of the oldest towns in Malaysia, and certainly the most cosmopolitan. In its time it has been ruled by the Portuguese, the Dutch, the British and the Japanese, finally becoming Malay in 1957. Old Malacca is a fascinating area to wander around by yourself, and we include a walking tour of some of the major sights such as the tomb of Hang Kasturi, one of Malacca's five great 15th century warriors, and Cheng Hoon Teng Temple the oldest Chinese temple in Malaysia.

The rest of the afternoon is free to explore this charming city. Malacca is the place to pick up antiques along 'antique row', and there are plenty of open-air restaurants along the water front in which to try the local speciality 'steamboat' - satay sticks of all types cooked in a pot in the middle of your table and eaten communally

DAY 6 - Visit Bukit Merah Orang-utan Sanctuary, travel to Belum Rainforest

We head north today, first travelling by train to the Perak State capital of Ipoh, where we then transfer to our bus and continue by road to the Bukit Merah Orang-utan Island. Bukit Merah was originally set up as an orang-utan Sanctuary in early 2000 and after many successful rehabilitations it has now been recognised as a full conservation centre, caring for a total of 24 orang-utans. Bukit Merah rescues orang-utans either from illegal possession or illegal trade, and acts to rehabilitate these gentle primates before returning them to the wild. It also acts as an education centre for locals and tourists alike, teaching people about the importance of the 'Men of the Forest' and how vital the conservation of their natural habitat is. We make the short trip across to the Island by ferry and then spend some time watching the orang-utans and learning about the important conservation work being done here. (Please note that if the water levels are too low we will not be able to visit Bukit Merah, and instead will visit Kuala Sepetang Mangrove forest, where we can explore the forest on foot via the maze of boardwalks through the low-lying mangrove trees.)

We later continue our journey north and cross into the Belum Rainforest. The Royal Belum State Park covers a large swatch of northern Malaysia and is believed to be one of the oldest rainforests in the world, dating back over 130 million years. Upon arrival in the park, we settle in to our rooms where the rest of evening is at leisure to enjoy our surroundings.

DAY 7 - Morning visit to Orang-Asli tribe. Afternoon free for jungle activities

After breakfast this morning we head out by boat onto the Temenggor Lake to visit the aboriginal villages of the Orang-Asli people. Translated from Malay to literally mean 'the original people', these tribes are indigenous to Peninsular Malaysia and live remotely in the forest regions of the north. We visit the Jahai and Temair tribe, where we learn about their ancient customs and traditions that have been passed down to them for generations. We will then continue our journey through one of the world's oldest forests on foot where, if we are lucky, we have a chance to encounter the incredible Rafflesia flower (seasonal), the world's largest flower. We plan to take up spot next to the beautiful Sungai Ruok Waterfall for our picnic lunch, before returning back to our rainforest retreat.

This afternoon has been left free where we can either relax in our surroundings or take part in a number of optional activities organised with the resort's front desk. There is a variety of excursions on offer which include jungle walks, a river cruise, fishing, bamboo rafting and night walks.

DAY 8 - Travel to Georgetown by bus and ferry

We leave the tropical rainforest behind today as we wind our way out of Royal Belum State Park and onto Butterworth. It is here we leave the road and the mainland behind as we board our ferry to cross over to Georgetown, Penang Island. Upon arrival, we will visit the charming temple of Khoo Kongsi where we can admire its intricate carvings, with its woodwork bearing all the hallmarks of master craftsmen from China. We then continue on foot to the 'Little India' of Penang, a melee of stalls selling colourful sarees, garments and bangles through to household items and crafts. We also have the chance to try some local delicacies such as 'Teh Tarik', a kind of cappuccino tea made with foam and milk!

DAY 9 - Morning tour of Penang, Afternoon free

Often called the 'Pearl of the Orient' by the local people, Penang lies some 4km off the Malay mainland. Its deep-water harbour is ideal for trade and so the island has become a haven of commerce. This morning we take an excursion around the island by private bus; visiting the majestic Kek Lok Si Temple, located on top of a hill, giving us a good insight into local life as it takes us through rural villages. You can also ride on the funicular railway to the top of Penang Hill (optional) for far reaching views across the island. In the afternoon you are free to explore. The Botanical Gardens are beautiful and can be reached quite easily by local bus, and there are many other interesting mosques and Buddhist temples to see. Appreciators of art should search out the local batik work at the Penang Art Gallery. In the evening we will organise to eat at one of the many local food stalls that Penang is so famous for, whether Indian, Chinese or Malay, the choice is yours!

Langkawi is an archipelago made up of 99 islands lying just off the west coast of the Malaysian Peninsular. Surrounded by turquoise waters, the interior of the main island is a mixture of jungle-clad hills and picturesque paddy fields. This lush interior is encapsulated by white-sand beaches lapped by the warm waters of the Andaman Sea; an ideal place to relax or explore for our last few days in Malaysia. We will be met on arrival on the island and transferred to our base for the next 3 nights, where the rest of the day has been left free at leisure.
