DAY 3 - Set Sail from Bali, crossing the Wallace Line en route to Sumbawa

After a leisurely breakfast we board our traditional schooner and raise anchor, starting our voyage along the beautiful and untouched isles of Eastern Indonesia. We will head east in the direction of the island Sumbawa, just across the Lombok Strait. This deep trench of water between Bali and Lombok marks part of a very important ecological boundary called the Wallace Line, which was first described by Sir Alfred Russel Wallace, the renowned Victorian naturalist. Wallace noticed that the flora and fauna of the islands to the west are home to Asiatic animal and plant species, whereas the islands to the east of the line have a greater similarity to species found in Australia.

As we head east we have plenty of time to relax and explore our new ocean-going home for the next seven days. The day ends with sunset drinks on the back deck and a briefing from the cruise leader about what our next days have in store.

The Katharina and Ombak Putih's galleys are filled with fresh produce, often sourced from local markets and fisherman met along the way. The skilled crew provide a variety of international and local dishes for breakfast, lunch and dinner that cover meat, seafood, vegetarian dishes and kids meals, whilst most dietary requirements can be catered for when notified in advance. Meals can also be made up on request, and can be washed down with a wide selection of complimentary soft drinks, juices or hot beverages. The ships also have fully stocked bars selling domestic beers, a selection of wines and imported spirits.

DAY 4 - Morning on white sands of Kenawa Island. After visit Sea Gypsy community of Bungin Island.

We will wake this morning moored off the coast of the beautiful white sand island of Kenawa in West Sumbawa. After a leisurely breakfast we will disembark and have the morning free to snorkel, paddle board and swim off the island's shallow waters, or to lie back and relax on its idyllic beach.

After lunch we will set a course 10 miles further east to Bungin Island, home to the Bajau people. This ethnic group are referred to locally as 'Sea Gypsies', so-called as they live in stilt houses above the water and live entirely off the sea using traditional fishing methods. It is the second largest Bajau settlement in Indonesia and will provide a rare opportunity to experience a part of Indonesian culture that forms a large part of the country's seafaring tradition. Later in the afternoon we will set sail for Moyo Island.

DAY 5 - Explore the volcanic island of Satonda and its sunken crater lake

There will be a chance this morning to visit the small village of Labuan Aji on the island of Mayo, before walking to Diwu Mba'l waterfall for a refreshing dip in the crystal clear waters. We then continue onto the volcanic island of Satonda.

The island is thought to have witnessed the biggest volcanic eruption in living history when, in 1815 Mount Tambora erupted with such force that it triggered a tsunami. This in turn caused such dramatic changes in the atmosphere that it affected global weather patterns, giving rise to the 'year without summer'. The eruption was four times more powerful than the famous eruption of Mount Krakatoa in 1883, and the ensuing tsunami flooded the crater with seawater, leaving behind a sunken crater lake in the island's centre. We plan to walk along of the rim of the crater this afternoon, with plenty of opportunity to peer into the mysterious lake below as we learn about some of the myths and legends the locals associate with it.

This evening we hope to be able to witness the mass-exodus of thousands of flying foxes that travel from the island at dusk to feed on the mainland.

DAY 6 - Snorkel the tropical waters of Pulau Sangean, relax on the white sands of Banta Island beach

Pulau Sangean is home to an active volcano, meaning the locals only inhabit the island for brief periods, taking advantage of the rich and fertile soil to grow crops and keep their herds of buffaloes, which can often be seen swimming in the sea off of the beaches of the island. This morning we explore Pulau Sangean both on-land and in the waters that surround it, rich with coral and gaseous bubbles escaping from the sea floor below.

We later arrive on Banta Island for an afternoon of relaxation on the palm-fringed white sand beaches of the island.

DAY 7 - Wake up off-shore of Komodo Island, ranger-led walk searching for Komodo Dragons

We rise early this morning and go-ashore at Loh Liang to meet our park ranger on the world-famous Komodo Island. At only 37km long by 21km wide, Komodo is a rather desolate place inhabited by just a few fishermen and their outriggers. Walking through the dry and dusty scrub we head to a point from which we may observe the awesome Komodo dragons. The largest of the monitor lizards, they have been extinct elsewhere since the Jurassic age and almost identical fossilised remains date from the age of dinosaurs. Up to three metres long and weighing up to 150 kilograms; their unique size and bulk results from the lack of any serious competing species or predator. Yet they can move swiftly to hunt and their powerful jaws and sharp claws can easily tear apart wild pig, goat or deer.

After an exhilarating morning in the dry, rugged, Savannah-like environment, we return to our schooner and head to 'red beach', so named due to the particles of red coral mingled into the sand. Here we snorkel along one of the richest reefs in eastern Indonesia, packed with colourful coral and a huge variety of fish. Manta rays can often be spotted here too.

DAY 8 - Explore Rinca Island and continue to search for Komodo Dragons. Evening beach barbeque

Today we visit Rinca Island where we have the opportunity to go on another ranger-led trek in search of more dragons. As well as these magnificent beasts, Rinca is also home to a healthy population of monkeys, wild buffalos and deer. For those up to the challenge, ascending the hills in the centre of the island affords glorious panoramic views.

This afternoon we visit the island of Kukuasan, home to the Bajao people, a group of so-called 'sea gypsies' who build their home on stilts over the sea and that ply their trades fishing and hunting.

This evening we go ashore to a deserted beach for our final night's beach barbeque. A bonfire is lit, drinks are shared and barbeque food is aplenty as we celebrate our last night aboard our traditional schooner.

Aboard Schooner (or similar)

DAY 9 - Visit village of Melo before crusing to Labuan Bajo and flying back to Bali

We leave the boat behind this morning and head for the village of Melo where we meet the local 'strongmen'. Here we witness the performance of the 'Caci', a co-ordinated ritual that involves two rivals whip-fighting, trying to hit each other whilst dancing to the rhythm of traditional instruments. It's a curious sport that the men of western Flores are very proud of, requiring speed, agility, skill and coordination.

We then transfer to Labuan Bali airport where we wave goodbye to our crew and fly to back to Bali.
