DAY 1 - Trip starts in Badefols-sur-Dordogne

Your base for the first two nights of your holiday is a charming hotel on the banks of the Dordogne. Following check-in, you may choose to take a refreshing dip in the hotel's swimming pool, or play a game of tennis. This evening, you can look forward to enjoying a gastronomic four-course dinner.

Please note that the reception at the hotel in Badefols is only manned between 16:00 to 20:00. If you plan on arriving outside of these hours, please inform Explore well in advance so that arrangements can be made for someone to meet you.

This holiday includes a taxi transfer from Belves railway station to your first hotel in Badefols 20 km away. DAY 3 - Walk from Badefols-sur-Dordogne to Cadouin

On today's walking route to the Medieval village of Cadouin, you begin by strolling through truly beautiful deciduous forests of oaks, chestnuts, and beech trees. In springtime, wild flowers abound, including several species of orchids. In the autumn, you'll be treated to a display of yellow, red and golden colours. Halfway through the route, you come to the 'bastide' of Molières, where we recommend stopping for lunch. Your walk continues through the vast 'Foret de Bessadois', which is full of game animals, before you reach Cadouin. Here, your accommodation for the next two nights is a cosy bed and breakfast (or chambres d'hotels as they are known in France). Run by Jan and Diana, l'Ancienne Gendarmerie occupies a restored former rectory and police station. The simply furnished bedrooms all have private bathrooms and guests can relax in the communal living room and library. There are several options for dining in the village tonight.

Trip information

Country information

France

Climate

Across France, from April - August, weather conditions are generally warm and pleasant with moderate rainfall; Autumn temperatures are a bit lower and the winter months (though colder) remain mild. The summer months on the Mediterranean Coast in the south tend to be warmer than the rest of France and have less rainfall, and also more mild winters; freezing conditions are nearly unheard of. The mountainous areas of the Alps, Juros and Pyrenees can be quite different. During summer the morning and evening temperatures are considerably cooler and it becomes much colder in winter with heavy snowfall. Western France, along the English Channel, there can be very strong winds and frequent rain during the winter months Nov - Apr. Wine harvesting takes place in late August/early September.

You will need one main piece of baggage and a daypack sufficiently large to take everything needed for your walking day, such as your water bottle, snacks, spare clothing and camera. Your main luggage will be transferred to your next accommodation normally by a local taxi driver or by the accommodation owners themselves. Please clearly mark all your belongings with your name and put a small note indicating the name of the next accommodation (check your accommodation list). The night before you leave, ask the accommodation owner where the bags should be left in the morning. Labelling your belongings prevents mix ups, delays and loss.
