In 2007 this mine was added to the UNESCO list of Geoparks. After visiting the mine you can enjoy a circular walk in the Croccorigas forest, thick with ilex groves, cork oaks and home to Sardinian indigenous deer.

This strip of pink granite shaped by wind and water juts out into the blue sea, considered to be the gem of the green coast. Continue along to Portixeddu, a 2.5 km white sand beach famous for surfing which is bordered by dunes, with forests of pines, oaks and junipers offering shelter during hot summer days. After relaxing on the beach return to Portixeddu by a different path.

This walk is not suitable for people who suffer from vertigo, since there are a couple of sections with no railings close to the cliff's edge. The path then winds down to Portoscuso where you spend the night. Portoscuso is home to a 16th century Spanish Tower, the 17th century church of Madona d Itria as well as the famous tuna fishery, all worth a visit.

Walk back to Carloforte from where you will take the ferry to Calasetta and then a private transfer takes you to the town of Sant Antioco on the island of the same name where you spend the last two nights of this holiday. Once a Phoenician Carthaginian colony, then a Roman city, today Sant Antioco is a charming seaside town.
